SWEAT

A Pulitzer Prize-winning play by Lynn Nottage
Directed by Kate Whoriskey

A group of friends share drinks, secrets, and laughs while working together on a factory floor. Then layoffs and picket lines chip away at their trust, and the friends find themselves pitted against each other in the hard fight to stay afloat. Book recommended for ages 16+.

SWEAT

A Pulitzer Prize-winning play by Lynn Nottage
Directed by Kim Weisberg

Press Quote from Oskar Eustis, Artistic Director of The Public Theater:

“The Sweat Mobile National Tour is our most dramatic attempt to break out of our New York bubble and speak to those who the non-profit theater has largely ignored: the rural communities of the upper Midwest,” said Artistic Director Oskar Eustis. “If the culture belongs to everyone, it belongs to the citizens of Hayward, Kenosha, Erie, and Saginaw as much as it belongs to Manhattan. We are thrilled to be bringing Lynn Nottage’s brilliant Pulitzer Prize-winning play across America.”
